360 Bust "George Washington." Rev. an eye, with diverging rays and fifteen stars. "Success to the United States." Brass, small size. Splendid specimen, and extremely rare and valuable.

361 The celebrated Washington Cent, of 1791. Bust in military costume, "Washington, President, 1791." Rev. large spread eagle, holding in its beak a scroll, with "Unum E Pluribus;" in one claw, an olive branch, with thirteen leaves; in the other, thirteen arrows; on its breast, a shield, with thirteen bars and spaces: above the head, "One Cent;" around the edge, "United States of America." Slightly rubbed, but extremely rare, and valuable.

362 The gem of the collection. The celebrated Washington Cent of 1792. Bust in military costume, "Washington, President, 1792." Rev. large, spread eagle, same as 361, but, in place of "One Cent," over the head are twelve stars, in a circular row, and one over bird's crest. This is one of the finest specimens of this rare and valuable issue that has been offered at public sale for years. The obverse reverse, and edge are remarkably fine. This specimen is finer than that preserved in the U. S. Mint, at Philadelphia; and from its great perfection and rarity, ought to attract the attention of collectors.

363 Known as Liverpool Half-penny. Bust in military costume, "Washington, President." Rev. a ship under sail, "Half-penny, 1793." Fine, and extremely rare and valuable.

ANCIENT GREEK, ROMAN AND EASTERN COINS, SEALS, ETC. A collection of coins, gold, silver and bronze, with a few rare antique seal stones. These date from the most distant times of Greece and Rome, Oriental, etc., and have been collected by a missionary, for many years resident in the East. They will be sold in one lot, and ought to be in possession of some one of our literary or historical institutions.

Priced (only lot not priced is no. 97), lead-pencil, in margin
